

KZN MANAGED FUND

FEBRUARY 2024

The KZN Managed Fund is a moderately aggressive fund that aims to achieve above average returns over the longer term.

The fund can invest across all local and foreign asset classes. The fund makes use of a blend of three good quality asset managers who have been given fully discretionary global balanced mandates. These asset managers have the freedom to select the allocation to each of these asset classes and the most attractive securities to invest in within each asset class. A portion of the fund is managed on a strategic asset allocation basis, where the long term allocation between the various asset classes have been set, taking into account the fund's long term aim. Specialist asset managers have been appointed to manage each of the asset classes and have the freedom to select the most attractive securities to invest in within each asset class.

Due to its relatively high allocation to growth assets (such as local and foreign shares and private equity), the fund has a high chance of capital loss in the short term, but is expected to realize real growth of capital over the long-term. As a result, the fund is best suited to members who have a longer term (5 years or more) investment horizon.

The portfolio complies with the prudential investment guidelines set out in Regulation 28 of the Pensions Funds Act.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

The MSCI World Index hit a new high in February. The developed economies are officially in a bull market, which has worked well for the fund's positioning. The bull market was driven by the US, which reached new all-time highs. Meanwhile, more than three decades after its previous high, the Japanese Nikkei 225 Index finally breached its 1989 high, and Europe's STOXX 50 Index is matching its 1999 high. What has driven markets to these new highs? Global economic barometers remain distorted by the Covid era, with the global manufacturing purchasing managers' index (PMI) only in January scaling the wall of worry (back) to the non-recessionary 50 level after 16 months of contraction. The PMI indicates that activity has stabilised. The improvement was driven by the US' economic growth recovery in 2023 as the rest of the world slowed. US gross domestic product (GDP) expanded by 3.3% in Q4 2023, the eurozone economy stagnated, and both Japan and the UK slipped into a recession in H2 2023. The Chinese economy continues to face low consumer confidence due to its struggling property market. However, GDP is backward-looking and markets are driven by changes in expectation, as best illustrated by the Citigroup Economic Surprise Indices. Consistent upside surprises in the US in 2023 are clear, driving world trade and growth. The eurozone and Japan have only recently shown green shoots, while China continues to flirt around the neutral level.

Our strategic views remain unchanged. The cyclical trend in equities is up over the next six months and the Fed pivot rally is not over. Odds of a severe US recession in 2024 remain low, but economic acceleration is also unlikely. China continues to export disinflation, shelter inflation is likely to fall in the US and oil prices are likely to remain contained, with non-OPEC supply increasing more than expected to outpace oil-demand growth. The Fed has room to cut rates.

On the flip side, the odds of inflation being significantly higher than expected and delaying rate cuts are greater than before but are unlikely to derail the picture unless a geopolitical event increases inflation through higher energy or transport costs. Geopolitical risks remain high, with the Russia/Ukraine war nearing its third year and tensions in the Red Sea remaining elevated. Sweden's newly approved NATO membership may exacerbate tensions.

The FTSE/JSE CAPPED SWIX Index decreased by 2.3%, Industrials were down by 0.6% and Financials fell by 0.8%. The JSE All Bond Index dropped by 0.6%, while the rand depreciated by 3.1% relative to the US dollar.
