

KZN AGGRESSIVE FUND

APRIL 2024

The KZN Aggressive Fund is an aggressive fund that aims to maximise investment returns over the longer term. The fund maintains a high exposure to growth assets, such as local and foreign equities and gains additional exposure to growth assets via investments in local property and private equity. The fund's asset allocation is fixed and the fund makes use of specialist asset managers to select the most attractive securities to invest in within each asset class.

Due to its high allocation to growth assets, the fund has a high chance of capital loss in the short term, but is expected to achieve real growth of capital over the long-term. As a result, the fund is best suited to members who have a longer term (7 years or more) investment horizon.

The portfolio complies with the prudential investment guidelines set out in Regulation 28 of the Pensions Funds Act.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

Stocks sold off in April on escalating Middle East tensions and hotter than expected US inflation. Despite officials in the US and Europe pushing to avoid a tit-for-tat between Israel and Iran, that is exactly what happened, but early signs are that the symbolic nature of the action could open the door to de-escalation - at least in the short term. However, an escalation could disrupt global oil flows and lead to oil shortages.

Very strong US non-farm payroll numbers, a hotter than expected core consumer price index and strong retail sales show the US economy and consumer remain resilient. The markets have priced in only two rate cuts in the US this year, and Fed Chair Jerome Powell signalled that policymakers will wait longer than previously anticipated to cut interest rates. If price pressures persist, he said, the Fed can keep rates steady for "as long as needed". The dollar strengthened, bonds weakened and US inflation breakeven curves have adjusted dramatically over the last six months. However, forward-looking indicators suggest inflation will continue to fall, just slower than expected.

A global manufacturing recovery with such high interest rates is unusual but is supported by four factors: i) continued US consumer resilience; ii) piecemeal Chinese stimulus, with particular focus on manufacturing; iii) supply chain onshoring and friendshoring, which has led to a surge in capital investment in manufacturing as facilities are duplicated around the world; and iv) Covid normalisation as people start spending on goods again.

This synchronised manufacturing recovery is evident across Europe, Japan and emerging markets and has driven up commodity prices: copper is at its highest value since June 2022, zinc is at its highest level in a year and gold recently reached a new high.

A global manufacturing recovery is usually bearish for the dollar, as rest-of-world growth is more sensitive to global trade. However, the US dollar is unlikely to weaken while the Fed lags other central banks in easing policy. Higher-for-longer US interest rates and rising geopolitical risks are likely to keep the dollar and US economy relatively strong for longer. We thus remain focused on the US despite both the green shoots in the rest of the world and the commodities recovery.

The FTSE/JSE CAPPEL SWIX Index increased by 2.9%, Industrials and Financials were up 1.4% and 2.7%. The JSE All Bond Index rose 1.4%, while the rand appreciated by 0.5% relative to the US dollar.
