

KZN MANAGED FUND

FEBRUARY 2025

The KZN Managed Fund is a moderately aggressive fund that aims to achieve above average returns over the longer term.

The fund can invest across all local and foreign asset classes. The fund makes use of a blend of three good quality asset managers who have been given fully discretionary global balanced mandates. These asset managers have the freedom to select the allocation to each of these asset classes and the most attractive securities to invest in within each asset class. A portion of the fund is managed on a strategic asset allocation basis, where the long term allocation between the various asset classes have been set, taking into account the fund's long term aim. Specialist asset managers have been appointed to manage each of the asset classes and have the freedom to select the most attractive securities to invest in within each asset class.

Due to its relatively high allocation to growth assets (such as local and foreign shares and private equity), the fund has a high chance of capital loss in the short term, but is expected to achieve real growth of capital over the long-term. As a result, the fund is best suited to members who have a longer term (5 years or more) investment horizon.

The portfolio complies with the prudential investment guidelines set out in Regulation 28 of the Pensions Funds Act.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

The dominant theme for financial markets in February has shifted from AI and tariffs to the potential US-led Russia-Ukraine ceasefire. America's recent pivot toward Russia is redefining the transatlantic defence alliance. The European Union (EU) is realising it may be on its own. Bloomberg Economics estimates that the cost of supporting Ukraine will push the aggregate EU defence budget toward 3.5% of GDP, nearly double its current level. If financed by debt, this would add an additional $2.7 trillion to the five largest European NATO members' borrowing needs over the next decade. Some in the EU see this moment as an opportunity for greater independence away from the US, but coalition governments and high debt levels mean increasing defence spend won't be quick or easy. The ceasefire for the euro area has been largely priced in year-to-date, but a lasting ceasefire without the Ukraine's buy-in will be difficult to sustain.

Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent provided insight into Trump's key measure of success when he highlighted the "3-3-3" plan aimed at lowering the US 10-year yield.

These are great objectives, but they present conflicting challenges. Implementing further tax cuts is likely to increase the deficit, while achieving sustained growth may be hindered by factors such as reduced immigration and increased tariffs. Tariffs have grabbed the headlines, but immigrants now comprise nearly one in five US workers - strictly restricting immigration will reduce growth and push up inflation.

Incoming data remain aligned with our high-for-long interest rate and inflation narrative in which global growth remains resilient, inflation stays sticky and central bank easing remains limited. Upward pressure on interest rates should continue as governments lift fiscal spend for increased defence spending in Europe. Provided Trump does not implement severe tariffs, the choppy risk-on backdrop should persist, with any significant rise in US bond yields resulting in tariff reversals. We remain overweight the US and equities.

European and Chinese markets are bouncing off their lows, but structural headwinds remain, with political uncertainties in Germany and France weighing on confidence and tariff threats remaining to Europe and China - we remain cautious of these bounces.

We remain underweight South African bonds and neutral SA equity given the negative sentiment surrounding the US funding cuts, the resurgence of stage 6 load shedding and the lack of consensus around the Budget. We will review after the updated Budget on 12 March.

The FTSE/JSE Capped SWIX Index lost 0.4%, while Industrials gained 3.4% and Financials rose 0.8%. The JSE All Bond Index increased by 0.1% and the Rand strengthened 0.5% against the Dollar.
