

KZN AGGRESSIVE FUND

APRIL 2023

The KZN Aggressive Fund is an aggressive fund that aims to maximise investment returns over the longer term. The fund maintains a high exposure to growth assets, such as local and foreign equities and gains additional exposure to growth assets via investments in local property and private equity. The fund's asset allocation is fixed and the fund makes use of specialist asset managers to select the most attractive securities to invest in within each asset class.

Due to its high allocation to growth assets, the fund has a high chance of capital loss in the short term, but is expected to achieve real growth of capital over the long-term. As a result, the fund is best suited to members who have a longer term (7 years or more) investment horizon.

The portfolio complies with the prudential investment guidelines set out in Regulation 28 of the Pensions Funds Act.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

April offered a quiet reprieve from the black swan events of March. Falling US inflation, China's reopening and the abating European energy crisis have led to a pick-up in economic activity, as confirmed by the JP Morgan Global Composite PMI, which has been on the uptrend year to date. However, the World Economic Outlook of the International Monetary Fund lowered its global growth fall to 2.8% in 2023, with advanced economies growing at a paltry 1.3%.

China has urged the US to assess the spill over effects of its economic policies, with the Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs describing them as the "biggest challenge to global financial stability". Weaker-than-expected tax collections in the US have brought forward the debt ceiling's so-called X-date to somewhere in July. Japan, the ultra-accommodative policy game's forgotten player, is still sitting on a $3 trillion pile of cheap money; Governor Ueda has little choice but to unwind Kuroda's experiment and potentially set off a flow-reversal shockwave. South Africans are reeling, with the last nine rate hikes seeing consumers paying 35% more on their home loans since the rate hike cycle started in late 2021. Finally, in global energy markets OPEC cut its output target again, by 1 million barrels per day. While this led to a temporary bounce in the oil price, production is far above quota. This demonstrates that targeting a cut and enforcing a cut are two different things.

The long-term effects of Covid, aggressive monetary intervention and geo-fragmentation are expected to push global GDP potential to a three-decade low by 2030. The IMF has warned that the global five-year growth outlook is at its weakest since 1990 - not surprisingly, given that world debt is close to record highs. The IMF estimates that trade fragmentation in the wake of events like Brexit, the US-China trade war and the Russian invasion of Ukraine could make the global economy 7% smaller than it would otherwise have been. Geopolitical risk remains high and we continue to expect heightened volatility. In the short term, market focus will be on when the Fed is expected to stop hiking rates. On average, markets have rallied from this point in the past.

The FTSE/JSE CAPPED SWIX Index increased by 3.4%, Industrials were up 3.2% and Financials improved by 3.3%. The JSE All Bond Index declined by 1.1%, while the rand depreciated by 3.1% relative to the US dollar.
